This 2 1/2 Day certification course will introduce you to the world of Iris Analysis. You will also learn to read an Iris Chart or Map to see different areas of the body. In this course, you will learn to study the irides of the eye to determine where there is inflammation, stagnation, hyper or hypo-activity. With this course, you will be able to use a light and a lupe (sold separately) to see changes and markings in the eye that will enable you to recommend certain natural remedies to assist the body's natural immune system in healing.

You will also get a basic understanding of Sclerology (study of the white part of the eye) and Pupil Tonus (study of the shape of the pupil. Both of these modalities will enable you to do responsible health analysis. This course is very intense and there will be a test for certification in both Basic and Advanced Iridology. The Advanced Iridology is what is taught in Europe and is more advanced than American Iridology as taught by Bernard Jensen.
